The sermon last Sunday morning was from the text, "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven" (Matt. 5:10). There were two automobile loads of young people from Hollywood who came over to help the Gospel Mission folks Sunday evening. They had charge of the young people's service at 6:30. Among them was Rev. LaFavour, who brought the evening message. His text was from Dan. 5:27—"Thou art weighed in the balance and art found wanting." Have you got Jesus on your side of the balance? If not you will surely be found wanting on the great and awful day of judgment; for "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God," and there is only one way—and that way is to have our sins cleaned by the precious blood of Jesus. Good works will avail nothing without the cleansing blood of Jesus has first been applied to our hearts. He said "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life; no man cometh unto the Father but by Me." Oh, poor lost soul, come to Him now and be made a new creature in Christ Jesus!

New Nash Models on Display Show Unique Body Creations And Other 1926 Refinements

Country-wide interest focused this week upon the introduction of the new Nash Special Six and Advanced Six series, now on display in dealer show rooms throughout the country. This announcement of new models by W. Nash comes as a climax to the most successful period in the history of the Nash organization, which has been coping with an oversold condition each month from Aug. 1 of last year until June 1 of this year, when the decks were cleared at the factory and all the vast Nash resources were concentrated toward bringing into manufacture the two lines of new cars.

Eleven Body Styles
Outstanding among the attractions uncovered in this new Special Six series and Advanced Six series are the unique Nash-Seaman body creations and the engineering refinements. The line includes eleven distinctive types of body styles, four on the Special Six chassis and seven in the Advanced Six line, each model fulfilling a specific requirement of the purchaser. The Special Six line offers a touring car, a roadster, a four-door sedan, and a two-door sedan. The Advanced Six line includes a five-passenger touring car, seven-passenger touring, roadster, two-door sedan, victoria, four-door coupe, and seven-passenger sedan. All models in both lines are equipped with force-feed engine lubrication, four-wheel brakes, full balloon tires, and five Budd disc wheels.

The new Special and Advanced Six five-passenger sedans have undergone remarkable refinement. The trunk platform at the rear has been eliminated and the body lengthened, thus adding to the roominess of the interior of these cars. This, together with widened doors and forward-folding front seats allows plenty of passageway for entrance and exit from the rear seat.

The front chairs, now wider and deeper, are solidly built and deeply upholstered, and an added degree of comfort is provided by the new floor knobs, which are adjustable so that passengers may regulate the tilt of the chairs to their complete satisfaction. A dignified walnut moulding now frames the windows of the Special and Advanced Six five-passenger sedans and imparts an additional note of richness to the interior. These models are now both equipped with dome lights of fine Colonial pattern and with new type door latch and window lift, the former on the left-hand door being a combination door opener and inside door lock.

Good Looking Roof
All enclosed cars in both series have the new French type roof and visor, exclusive to Nash and described as being "by far the best looking roof construction ever designed." Long flowing beading now lends charm to all models, open and closed, in the Special Six series. Broad, deeply crowned fenders have also been added to the Special Six, and have also a higher nicked radiator, a higher and more beautifully proportioned hood, high and narrow louvers, and a wealth of similar details in refinement both with respect to the body and the chassis.

The gear shift lever and parking brake, for instance, have been given treatment by Nash engineers, so that in both the Special and Advanced Six lines the parking brake is now found on the driver's left, while the gear lever has a new curved shape, which, together with the new placement of the brake, allows entrance or exit from either side. Instrument boards of both the Special and Advanced Six series have undergone further refinement, the panel lighting on the Special Six series now issuing from beneath the cowl somewhat similar to the arrangement in the Advanced Six, while to the board of the latter series has been added a hydrostatic gasoline gauge, accurate and reliable.

Both Special and Advanced Six models are now provided with carburetor air cleaners to prevent road dust and other sediment from entering the motor; because of this refinement wear on the motor, it is said, will be reduced to a minimum. Another mechanical improvement is found in the heat-treated steel band shrunk on the flywheel of both the Special and Advanced Six cars. The teeth are cut in the band and the construction is such that, according to Nash engineers, injury to the flywheel by incautious use of the starter is impossible.
